INTRODUCTION

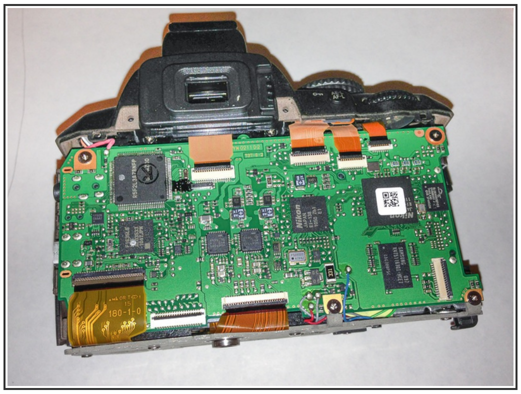

This is a video, showing how to disassemble the Nikon D3000 DSLR. I did it to convert the sensor to Infrared, but you could also use it to replace the LCD or sensor.

TOOLS:

- Phillips #00 Screwdriver (1)
- Soldering Station (1)
- Tweezers (1)
- Magnifying Glass (1)

Step 1 — LCD, rear circuit board and sensor

- See a video describing the steps in the introduction. Sorry the sound isn't very good, use subtitles if you have difficulty hearing it.

To reassemble your device, follow these instructions in reverse order.
